

Low Carbon Communities: imaginative approaches to combating climate change locally

Edited by Michael Peters, Shane Fudge and Tim Jackson

Published by Edward Elgar Publishing Ltd.

BOOK LAUNCH

Wednesday 29th September
Green Living Centre
222 Upper Street, Islington
6:30 – 8pm

Tube: Highbury & Islington
Rail: Highbury & Islington
Facilities to lock bikes: Yes

Join the editors of this fascinating new volume for an official launch event kindly hosted by the London Borough of Islington Council in their innovative Green Living Centre.

Including complementary drinks and nibbles, short talks and Q&As with the editors

Special price copies of 'Low Carbon Communities' will be on sale at this event

"We are faced with the greatest challenge to public engagement since World War Two, and a new discourse of fear - not military invasion but climate change. At the same time most people cannot grasp the scale of the challenge nor what they are supposed to do about it. Good governance requires an informed citizenry who are much more than consumers and customers, but active participants in a new post-carbon politics. 'Low Carbon Communities' helps to set out the political and cultural agenda for the first half of the twenty-first century and, ultimately, the imaginative approaches that are required now to address climate change".

Professor Michael Redclift, University of London, UK

For further information and to reserve a place please contact Michael Peters directly:

m.peters@surrey.ac.uk 01483 682184

Only space for 50 people max. so please reserve your place now to avoid disappointment!